

REVEL, IN DEPTH · EPISODE 7

Staff and permissions

Narration script · English

VIDEO FILE	RUNTIME	LINES	WORDS	LANGUAGE
ep-staff-permissions.mp4	70.9 s	6	182	English

THE TONE

Warm, human and honest — like explaining something to a friend, not reading ad copy. No hype, no hard sell. The sentences are short because they are spoken, not read. Let them breathe.

READING NOTES

Each line is timed to what happens on screen. The duration on the left is how long that line has in the picture — treat it as a target, not a cage. The gaps between lines are real silence in the cut; you do not need to fill them.

HOW TO SAY IT

Revel	REV -uhl — as in “revelry”. Never “re-VEL”.
lets revel dot io	Written out on purpose. Say it as the address: “let’s revel dot I-O”.
R S V P	Spelled out, letter by letter: “are-ess-vee-pee”.
Q R code	Spelled out: “cue-are code”.
V A T	Spelled out: “vee-ay-tee”.
Stripe	The payment company. English, as written.
Mira, Ren, Noa, Jordan, Bea, Lena, Felix, Paul	Characters in the demos. Say them naturally.

1 Episode seven. Staff and permissions. Handing someone the door, without handing them the keys.

00:00–00:06
6.1 s

— 1.2 s of silence —

2 Felix has been helping on the door for months. Under Members, open his card, and make him staff. That gives him a sensible starter set — nothing that touches the organization itself.

00:07–00:19
11.6 s

3 Then decide exactly what he gets. Every permission is a tick box: check people in, manage tickets, send announcements, edit the organization, and so on. Here it's just the two he needs: the door, and the ticket list. Nothing else.

00:19–00:34
14.9 s

— 2.7 s of silence —

4 Signed in as Felix, the admin area opens — with a staff badge, not an owner's. The menu looks the same, but what he can actually open is what he was ticked for. The ticket list for the cabaret night, yes: here's the door list, check-in one tap away.

00:37–00:53
15.7 s

5 The members list, no. That one stays with the owner. And permissions can be set per event too, so whoever runs the door on the night isn't running everything.

00:53–01:02
9.4 s

6 Trust in small, specific pieces. Revel is free and open source. Find it at lets revel dot io.

01:03–01:10
7.4 s

End of script — 6 lines, 70.9 s of picture.